

The International Association For Creation

"Sound Doctrine. Dependable Science."

The International Association for Creation is the leading professional organization dedicated to providing individuals and families with local, faith-affirming resources through museums and ministries around the world by providing access to our network of biblical worldview learning centers, outdoor creation adventures, and interactive events. Our team is comprised of some of the community's top professionals. While we provide corporate services and business support, the heart of our team is to serve. A majority of our service in the community is based on providing logistical support for ministry professionals on the "frontlines." Based on decades of experience, we believe that unity throughout the Christian community is vital as we seek the Lord in the days ahead and continue to present the biblical worldview around the globe.
